

Heroin

All begins without
All ends with you
No need for night
No need for day
Elevate me to another place

Lost

Dead

In a familiar place
In a familiar place
In a familiar place

Noiseless, blindness, happiness

It's all in a blood vessel
It's all in a blood vessel

Push me, heart beats

To this heart, I don't want to do it again
You're the life line you are the heroin on my airways

Early morning I got no warning my heart is dead
Turn on my radio
Don't ever listen again

The interference that you're bringing
I've got to turn to heroin
Turn my heart round, change the channel
This lifeless wire less
Don't ever listen again

The signal comes from your eyes and I don't listen
Did you ever listen to me?
As I move as I ask permission for this transmission

Nobody listens
Goodbye

You're the lifeline, you are the heroin on my airways

To this heart you're the lifeline you're the heroin on my airways
You're the heroin on my airways

Early morning
My heart is dead

© Gary M Hilton